Responsible of the coordination of Gabbiani & Associati Studio, her work focuses on the design of commercial and office structures, private homes, exhibitions, installations, sets, restoration of architectural heritage, public and private urban planning, recovery of abandoned areas and urban regeneration. She combines cultural activities with her profession, promoting architecture and the interaction between different disciplines and arts. She deals with the issues of environmental sustainability and the construction of the design process through "Design for All". Secretary of the Italian Design and Disability Institute (2001-2005), she was also President of "Design for All Italia" (2005-2009), of which she is a founding member. Since 1999 she has directed the Dedalo Minosse International Prize for Commissioning Architecture, organized by the Free Architects Association. She teaches, trains and lectures at organizations, universities and design schools in Italy and abroad. She is the author of articles on architectural issues and curator of the catalogue and exhibition of Dedalo Minosse Prize (since 2001).
